The Sound of the Sky

by Daena Murray

In the Northern Territory, the weight of the earth is balanced by the impact of the sky. Here on the oldest continent, while the earth is firm, sound carries over vast distances and powerful forces are borne by the sky in the form of cyclones, meteors, lightning, dust storms, bombs and aircraft - phenomena which loom large in Territory experience and myth.

Much has been written and spoken about the vastness of the sky in remote Australia: the differences in colour and shade the sun makes, the weighty presence of it, even the 'loudness' of its silence. This book presents a visual record of Euro-Australian artists' responses to the Northern Territory: its land and people and its resonating sky.
